NEW YORK HERALD MUNDAY PERSUARY 2, 1863.

hese New England manufacturers and commis sion houses, whose principals have been mainly Instrumental in bringing the country into its present ruined condition, have not only realized large fortunes by contracts and the protection of a war tariff, but are continuing to make further onermous gains by the commercial embarrassmeats which they have provoked. It is no wonder that whilst such a profitable condition of things lasts they should be anxious to throw every obstacle in the way of a vigorous prosecution of the war. Our present troubles are mainly laid to the account of New England fanaticism. If they were set down to that of New England cupidity they would be equally near the truth.

THE REBEL PRIVATEERS .- The operations of the Sumter, when she first began her depredations upon American commerce, put up insurance premiums so high upon all freights taken in American vessels as to cause many American merchants to turn their vessels over to English owners, who sail them under the English flag. Since then we have had the Alabama, and now the Florida and the Retribution, and probably the Harriet Lane, to prey upon American commerce, which is being driven into English vessels. Should the rebel privateers be allowed any further impunity in their raids against American commerce they must bring it to a close, as we shall be unable to find shipments for American vessels. It must be apparent to all that, should two or three rebel vessels-of-war get into the Pacific, they would cause a total cessation of American commerce on that ocean. We make these statements to call President Lincoln's attention to facts which clearly concern him. If his officials are not competent it is his duty to procure the services of others who may prove equal to the emergencies of the hour. He cannot from sheer carelessuess allow our commerce to be annihilated by two or three rebel privateers.

THE ALLEGED MILITARY CABAL AGAINST BURN-SIDE .- The inquiry pending before the Senate Committee on the Conduct of the War in re gard to the causes of the alleged interference with and frustration of General Burnside's plans at Fredericksburg will, it is stated, bring some curious facts to light. We trust that the object of the investigation is really what it professes to be-the vindication of a chivalrous and high-minded officer, and not, as in the case of the recent courts martial, an attempt to impeach indirectly the conduct of other generals who stand equally high in the estimation of the country. If Burnside's plans were, as it is stated, defeated by the misrepresentations of some of his subordinates, who visited Washington with that view, the authorities there are equally culpable for listening to their statements. It was by such underhand proceedings that all McClellan's well devised plans were thwarted and defeated; and the country will not again patiently endure to see the best and most meritorious of our generals made the victims of such intrigues, whilst those who are really responsible for these failures are enabled so shield themselves behind their official immumity.

General Wyman, formerly a superintendent of the Illifeast Contral Baircad—a road already famous for having given to the Yankee army those grand military hamongs—McCallan and Burnside—commanded one of the oldest and most brigades in the abotition service. At the commencement of the war Wyman raised a regiment of rail-road employes, and was ordered to Masouri, where his regiment remained until ordered to assist in the taking of Yickaburg. A brigade was then placed under Wyman's command, and at the head of this brigade, which was badly cut up when attacking the Yango strongholds, Wyman was killed. He is mourned by the Yankees as one of their brawett and most skillful officers.

General Morgan D. Smith, formerly a steamboat runner in St. Louis, commanded what was styled a Missouri brigade, but composed wholly of convicts pardoned out of the Illinois State Prison upon condition of joining the army. It was the infamously notorious Eighth Missouri, noted for every kind of inhuman outrage and the burning of a large portion of the city of Memphis. General Smith, the leader of this desperace band, was mortally wounded. Smither of the desperace band, was mortally wounded. ### NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

OUR PORRIGN RELATIONS—SATISFACTORY EXPLANATION WITH THE PHENCH MINISTER.

Fully and satisfactory explanations have passed between the French Minister and the State Department in regard to the recent alleged efforts to induce Mr. Mercier to depart from a just and friendly course of proceeding respecting our national affairs.

Conversation have been held between the State Department and the Spanish Minister on the subject of the recent naval occurrences at Havana. PROSTECTS OF THE PASSAGE OF THE FINANCIAL PROSPECTS OF THE PASSAGE OF THE FINANCIAL SCHEME OF SECRETARY CHASE.

Finance matters are the great questions here. It is now settled almost beyond a doubt that neither the bill which passed the House nor that introduced in the Senate, will limately become a law, but that the financial measures of this session will be arranged in the committee of con-ference. It is believed that they will embrace the principal points of the projects presented by Secretary Chase and advocated by Robert J. Waiker, including the banking scheme there are here many of the most distinguished manniers of the country, who declare without hesitation that the successful arrangement of our fluances is just now of even greater importance than military successes. They argue that the adoption of Mr. Chase's banking scheme is of the highest importance, that it will provide a sure market for government securities, which could not otherwise be disposed of country a uniform circulating medium, equally good in all parts of the Union. Also that it will give to every capit alist and to every man, woman and child who has a dollar maintenance of the government. It is expected that the financial measures which shall ultimately be adopted by Congress will check the enormous increase in the dillerstore the latter to a reasonable approximation of a gold studied the disposition of Congress in this matter, that the bill which will be passed will bring down gold and exchange to about half the premium upon it at present.

It is proposed by Mr. Walker, in addition to the other features of Mr. Chase's financial scheme, that gold which may come into the treasury from custom dues shall be loaned to the banks established under the proposed government banking system, and by them loaned to the public so that it may be used again and again in payment of duties. The opposition to the plans of the Secretary of the Treasury has sensibly diminished, and little doubt is entertained that the Conference Committee will arrange a programme upon his basis which will be accepted by Congress, and will check suddenly and cer-tainly the present progress in the inflation of prices. An amendment will be proposed in the Senate to the House Finance bill, second section, providing that the legal tender notes may be reconvertible into interest bearing Treasury notes. By this section, the issue of four hundred millions of six per cent notes is authorized, which may be converted, with their accrued interest, into legal tender notes. The Committee of Ways and Means are in favor of this ninendment.

THE OPINION OF SENATOR PESSENDEN IN THE FIFE

JOHN FORTHE CASE.

Surprise is generally expressed that no experienced a lawyer as Mr. Fessenden should have given an opinion in General Fitz John Porter's case, which was based upon a publication containing only the teatimony which was given on the side of the government. The testimony was surreptitiously obtained, and when the name of the army officer who furnished it shall be made known the public will not be astonished at the baseness of his conduct. THE CHARGES AGAINST SUPERINTENDENT KENNEDY.

The report of the House Committee upon the charge against J. C. G. Kennedy, Esq., for corresponding with ex-Secretary Thompson, has been published. It speaks Mr. Kennedy, as it appears that down to the time of the bombardment of Fort Sumter he was exerting himself to quell robellioes feeling in the South by une ampled labors in sending Union documents wherever the mails went, and in corresponding to the same effect with numbers of leading Southern Unionists.

The unfortunate tragedy which occurred at the Sailors' Sing Harbor on Saturday morning last still creates considerable excitement on the island, especially in and about New Brighton. An inspect was held on both the bodies of the Rev. Mr. Quinn and the sailor, Herman Engle, and a verdict reintered in accordance with the facts published in yosterday's HERALE.

NEWS FROM ALBANY.

The Excitement on the Senatorial Question-The Radicals in Council-Chances of the Aspirants for a Nomination-Difference of Opinion Among the Democrats, &c., &c.

ALBANT, Feb. 1, 1863. This has been a busy day at Albany. All have been busy on the Senatorial contest. The late trains last night and the merning trains to-day come in filled with ohimless they are here to tell members how to vote

The radicals, who have been in the greatest state of excitement of any class, were in caucus at ten o'clock three; but are yet at sea. There does not seem to be any person among them who has the brains to bring orde out of the chaos on their side. Their caucusses have all been held at the Delavan, in the rooms of a lobbyman who is here in the interest of George Law, where the radical partion of the State Central Committee have made their headquarters this session. This fact is significant in reference to the character of the legislation this winter.

There are several new developments to-day in regard to the senator. In the first place a person in the confdence of the State Central Committee has, as I am informed from trustworthy sources, tendered the nomination for senator to Win. Curtis Noyes for the modest sum of $35,000. This, as a matter of course, Mr. Noyes rejected. The result is that Noyes's name is hardly mentioned amongst the radical managers. I trust that nebody will be so divil as to think that the failure to get the $25,000 has caused this singular state of affairs.

Morgan still leads all his competitors. His most bitter oppenents in the Legislature now accode him 37 votes, or one less than my canvasis gave him last night. The radicula are yet unable to concentrate upon any of their numerous candidates.

—Zha effort was made to concentrate their forces, in causin this afternoon, under the watchword "Anybedy but dence of the State Central Committee has, as I am inform

An effort was made to concentrate their forces, in caucus this afternoon, under the watchword "Anyhody but Morgan," but after canvascing the field alt over they were unable to accomplish that result. They, however, figure Dickinson the next strengest candidate, as the question now stands.

I am satisfied they are correct, but the idea, that the entire West are united for Dickinson is samply absurd. Some of the strongest support or Morgan in the Legislature are from the Western counties. Beying on the Legislature are from the Western counties. Beying of some of the strongest of these two. Several of those classified as radicals have affinited to me this afternoon that Morgan will be nominated.

et those two. Several of those classified as radicals have admitted to me this aftermon that Morgan will be nominated.

The failure of the radicals to unite their scattered forces and their inability to be able to do so until they have had several ballets in the nominating canciuses, leaves the matter so open that it is impossible to tell how the contest will finally shape.

The factor the matter is, the friends of each candidate in the radical cancius insist that their man has the beat chance to radly the anti-Morgan strength. These were bicknessed, King, Ward, Hout, Sodgwick and Raymond. No one would consent to concentrate on any candidate but his own, hence a disagreement. In this state of affects, Morgan having such a declaive strength over all others, it would point to his zuccess as certain, but the very fact of his having that positive strength may be the cause of his defeat by the consensation of all other candidates, but this it do not believe can be accomptished.

An additional lobby will be here to-morrory. It is said that the leading spirits in the famous Legislature of 1869 are to be here in the morning to not the radicals in the defeat of Morgan. Some of them are here now and actively at work or that side. This is to pay Morgan of the vertical their poles. This fact, with the radical in the defeat of Morgan for hurrying the trops out of the State energetically, and zealously laboring to get them under the control of the administration, where they use them to crash out the radicallen, it seems should be enough to decide the vote of any honest man in the Legislature.

Some of the Albany and Susquehanna members still

Some of the Albany and Susquehama members still hold out that they will boil if Morgan is nominated, but these men fail to comprehend the issue. The great contest is not one between men, but on a principle—conservatism against radicalism—and is an issue that will continue long after the Scantorial contest is forgotten. I magine therefore that this railroad interest for the sake of paying an old gradge, will not bazard their scheme without considering before they joint.

An extreme radical is out of the question. Even Field who is now here is unable to raily enough for a sorporal's guard.

An extretive range is one of the question. Even field who is now here is unable to raily enough for a corporal's guard.

Several of the leading democratic favor no nomination on their side. Wood insists on the nomination, and claims a nealority of the democratic members, but this very persistence of Wood is hourly weakening his strength.

The Seantorial contest is hourly growing more and more interesting. The radicals are now wavering between Diskinson and Engmond, the largest number on Diskinson and Engmond, the largest number of bistinson and Engmond, the largest number of with eight of raily their strength on either. The balloting will start off with eight of some of the candidates, but it is impossible to predict who will be nominated with any certainty. The contingencies of the pressure that will be brought to bear to-morrow with the uncertainty where the radicals will finally concentrate their votes, makes the whole affilir uncertain. One thing is sore, and that is no man of extreme views will under any consideration, turn on.

There is quite a contest in the democratic party over the question of nominating a candidate. All the best portion of the party, here who stand as the most infisential of the party, are opposed to making a nomination, but Wood's risends minist on placing some one in the field.
